

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments	iii
About the Authors	v
Introduction	ix

PART 1: LEGAL BACKGROUND ON CIVIL COMMITMENT

Chapter 1: The Law and Sexually Violent Predators—Through the Hendricks Looking Glass

Introduction	1-1
Hendricks 's Background Facts	1-2
Three Issues Before the High Court	1-3
Mental Illness vs. Mental Disorder	1-3
No Punishment: No Ex Post Facto or Double Jeopardy Issues	1-4
Treatment and Punishment	1-5
Does Estelle Create a Right to Treatment?	1-6
Ruminations on Implications	1-7
Conclusion	1-10

Chapter 2: The Civil Commitment of Sexual Predators—Experience Under Minnesota's Law

Introduction: The Protection of Society From Sexual Predators
When Punishment Does Not Deter	2-3
Overview of State Sexual Predator Civil Commitment Laws	2-4
Predicate Behavior	2-5
Persons Qualifying for Commitment	2-6
Qualifying Offenses	2-6
Mental Condition	2-6
Burden of Proof	2-7
Trier of Fact	2-7
Psychological Evaluation	2-7
Rights of the Respondent	2-7
Evidentiary Issues	2-7
Placement of Respondent	2-8
Period for Commitment	2-8
Periodic Review or Release	2-8
Minnesota's Psychopathic Personality Commitments	2-8

Development of the Psychopathic Personality Commitment
 Standard 2-8
 Standard for “Habitual Course of Sexual Misconduct” 2-9
 Harmful Nature of the Conduct 2-9
 Habitual Nature of the Conduct 2-13
 Need for Convictions? 2-15
 Utter Lack of Power to Control Sexual Impulses 2-15
 “Utter Lack of Power” Defined 2-15
 Planning/Grooming 2-16
 Offender’s Lack of Insight Shows Inability to Control 2-17
 Offender Need Not Always Be Out of Control 2-18
 Misconduct Despite Consequences Shows
 Inability to Control 2-19
 Minnesota’s Sexually Dangerous Person Commitments 2-19
 Enactment of the SDP Commitment Law 2-19
 “Sexually Dangerous Person” Defined 2-19
 “Harmful Sexual Conduct” Defined 2-20
 Course of Harmful Sexual Conduct 2-21
 “Mental Disorder” 2-22
 Minnesota Commitment Issues Under Both Statutes 2-22
 Likelihood of Harmful Sexual Conduct 2-22
 Assessment of Likely Sexual Reoffense 2-23
 Least Restrictive Alternative 2-24
 Availability of Treatment 2-25
 Minnesota Commitment Procedural Issues 2-26
 Petition 2-26
 Parties to the Proceeding 2-26
 Dual Commitment 2-26
 Prehearing Issues 2-26
 Privilege Against Self-Incrimination 2-27
 Pretrial Hold Orders 2-27
 Discovery; Obtaining and Using Records 2-28
 Expert Witnesses 2-29
 Collateral Estoppel Effect of Previous Commitment Proceedings 2-29
 Trial; Testimony 2-29
 Evidentiary Issues 2-29
 Findings 2-30
 Review Hearing 2-30
 Appeal 2-31
 Constitutional Challenges to the Minnesota Commitment Laws 2-32
 The Psychopathic Personality Law 2-32

Pearson v. Probate Court (Utter-Lack-of-Power-to-Control Standard)	2-32
In re Blodgett	2-33
Double Jeopardy Challenges	2-34
The Sexually Dangerous Person Law	2-34
In re Linehan (Linehan II)	2-34
The U.S. Supreme Court’s Decision in Kansas v. Hendricks	2-35
Remand of Linehan II	2-37
Status of Other Cases, Pending Linehan II Remand	2-41
Other Constitutional Issues	2-42

Chapter 3: Defending Sex Offender Commitment Cases

Introduction	3-2
Constructing a Defense	3-2
Contemporary Sex Offender Commitment Laws	3-4
Historical Sexual Misconduct	3-4
Mental Status	3-5
Legal Construction of the Mental Status Element	3-5
Multiple Acts of Violent Sexual Aggression	3-6
Lack of Insight or Remorse	3-6
Acting Out in Controlled Circumstances	3-6
Self-Directed/Controlled Behavior	3-6
Treatment/Avoidance of Trigger Situations	3-6
Psychological Assessment of Impaired Control	3-7
The DSM and “Mental Disorder”	3-7
Limited Reliability and Validity	3-8
Applying Categorical Diagnoses to Human Behavior	3-8
Overall Definition of “Mental Disorder”	3-9
DSM Diagnoses Common to Sex Offender Commitments	3-9
Antisocial Personality Disorder	3-9
Paraphilia	3-11
Impulse Control Disorder	3-12
Prediction of Harm	3-12
Probability and Predictive Accuracy	3-12
Severity of Harm	3-14
Causation	3-14
Other Legal Issues	3-15
Least Restrictive Alternative	3-15
Due Process and the Mental Disorder Requirement	3-16
Ex Post Facto and Double Jeopardy Clause Issues	3-17
Standard of Review	3-18

Practical Aspects of Sex Offender Commitment Litigation 3-18

 Initial Steps 3-19

 Communicating With Clients 3-19

 Medical Records 3-20

 Cross-Examination of Experts 3-21

 Foundation 3-21

 Common Forms of Inaccuracy and Error in Forensic
 Psychology 3-21

 Standards of Professional Responsibility and Ethics 3-22

Conclusion 3-24

PART 2: CLINICIANS’ VIEWPOINTS ON CIVIL COMMITMENT

Chapter 4: The Case Against Involuntary Commitment

The Rationale Behind Commitment Statutes 4-2

A History of Mentally Disordered Sex Offender Laws 4-3

 Flawed Assumptions 4-3

 Conflict for Clinicians 4-4

The New Generation of SVP Legislation 4-4

 Commonalities in the Old and New Laws 4-5

 Distinct Features of the New Laws 4-6

 Postsentence Commitment 4-6

 “Illness” vs. Criminality 4-6

 Prediction of Dangerousness 4-7

 Mental Disorder vs. Mental Illness 4-8

 Ex Post Facto Criminal Punishment 4-9

 Statutory Mandate to Provide Treatment 4-9

Defining the Sexually Violent Predator 4-10

 Deviance as Illness 4-10

 Deviance as Addiction 4-11

Identifying the Sexually Violent Predator 4-12

 Legal Standards for Prediction 4-12

 The Problem With Base Rate Predictions 4-14

Problems With Operating SVP Treatment Programs 4-15

 Physical Space 4-16

 Treatment Issues 4-16

 Pressures on Clinical Staff 4-17

 Expense 4-17

Alternative Approaches 4-18

 Restorative Justice and Containment 4-18

Targeting the Unidentified Abuser	4-19
Conclusion	4-19

Chapter 5: Civil Commitment of Sex Offenders as Therapeutic Jurisprudence—A Rational Approach to Community Protection

Introduction	5-1
The Need for Commitment and Treatment	5-2
The Rational Model	5-3
Defining the Dangerous Sex Offender	5-3
Need for Proper Evaluations	5-4
Older Sentencing Guidelines	5-4
Setting Standards for Accurate Assessments	5-4
Treatment Environments	5-5
Treatment in Incarceration	5-5
Alternative Approaches	5-5
Complexity of Sexual Offender Commitment	5-6
Aftercare/Supervision	5-6
Conclusion	5-7

PART 3: THE ROLE OF ASSESSMENT IN THE COMMITMENT PROCESS

Chapter 6: The Referral Process

Introduction	6-1
Earlier Commitment Statute	6-1
Sexual Psychopathic Personality Law	6-2
Development of the Minnesota Sex Offender Screening Tool (MnSOST)	6-2
Minnesota Supervised Release Statute	6-5
Screening and Referral Process	6-6
Program Review Hearing	6-6
Civil Commitment Review	6-7
Letter to County Attorney	6-8
Future Directions	6-9

Chapter 7: The Forensic Evaluation of Sex Offenders in Civil Commitment Proceedings

Introduction	7-2
Forensic vs. Therapeutic Psychological Evaluation	7-3
Sexual Predator Commitment Statutes as a Subset of Mentally Ill and Dangerous Commitment Statutes	7-4

Characteristics of Sexual Offenders 7-4
 Theoretical Models 7-5
 A Contemporary Perspective on Antisocial Behavior 7-6
 Research-Based Characteristics of Sex Offenders 7-7
 Assessment Issues in Evaluating the PPSP 7-9
 Record Review 7-11
 Collateral Sources of Information 7-12
 The Forensic Interview of PPSPs 7-13
 Informed Consent and Limits of Confidentiality 7-13
 Specific Issues Regarding the Interview With Repeat Sex Offenders 7-14
 General Issues and Considerations 7-14
 Interview Strategies for Improving Data Collection From PPSPs 7-15
 Mental Status Examination and Ongoing Monitoring 7-18
 Personal and Social History 7-19
 Diagnostic Evaluation: The Significance of Structure 7-20
 Diagnostic Interviews—Axis I 7-21
 Diagnostic Interviews—Axis II 7-21
 Sex Offense History 7-22
 General Criminal History 7-23
 Treatment and Correctional History 7-24
 Sexual History and the Assessment of Deviant Sexual Arousal and Behaviors 7-25
 Psychological Testing 7-26
 Self-Report Measures of Personality Traits, Disorders, and Psychiatric Conditions 7-27
 Projective Testing 7-29
 Sexual Arousal, Attitudes, and Behaviors 7-29
 Direct Measure of Deviant Sexual Arousal 7-31
 Treatment Progress for Sex Offenders 7-32
 Risk Assessment and Release Options 7-33
 Interview Questions 7-33
 The Clinical Rating of Psychopathy 7-33
 Risk Rating Instruments 7-35
 Conclusion 7-36

Chapter 8: What Do We Know About Risk Assessment?

Introduction 8-2
 Static and Dynamic Risk Factors 8-2
 Stable and Acute Factors 8-3
 Risk Assessment in Commitment Hearings 8-3

Three Plausible Approaches to Risk Assessment 8-4

Measurement of Predictive Accuracy 8-5

Clinical Risk Assessments 8-6

Estimating Recidivism Rates 8-7

 Base Rates 8-7

 Recidivism Risk Factors 8-8

The Dynamic Predictors of Sexual Reoffense Project 8-10

Rationally Justified Risk Factors 8-12

Individual Assessments 8-12

Guided Clinical Risk Assessments 8-13

Actuarial Risk Assessments 8-14

 Critique of Actuarial Risk Assessments 8-16

Adjusted Actuarial Evaluations 8-17

 Critique of Adjusted Actuarial Evaluations 8-18

Conclusions and Policy Implications 8-19

Chapter 9: Expert Witness Report and Testimony in Sexual Predator Civil Commitment Proceedings

Introduction 9-2

Nature of Forensic Behavioral Science Testimony in Civil Commitment 9-4

 Admissibility of Expert Testimony 9-4

 Types of Mental Health Professional Experts 9-5

 Specialty Guidelines for Forensic Psychologists 9-7

 Towards a Forensic Ethic for Mental Health Professionals 9-9

The Forensic Evaluation of the Respondent 9-10

 Records Reviewed 9-10

 Nature of Contacts With Respondent 9-11

 Informed Consent and Confidentiality Waiver 9-11

 Forensic Interviews 9-12

 Administration of Psychological Testing 9-12

The Expert Witness’s Role and Participation in the Trial 9-13

Qualification as an Expert 9-14

Hearing Testimony During Trial 9-15

 Respondent Testimony 9-16

 Victim Testimony 9-16

 Providing Expert Witness Testimony as a Mental Health Professional 9-17

The Expert Witness’s Evaluation and Opinion: Report and Testimony 9-18

- Background Information 9-19
 - Respondent’s Offense History 9-19
 - Respondent’s Treatment and Correctional History 9-20
 - Conditional Release 9-20
 - Testimony of Others 9-21
 - Previous Psychological Evaluations 9-21
- Current Psychological/Psychiatric Evaluation 9-22
 - Psychological Testing and Questionnaires 9-22
 - Diagnostic Results 9-24
 - Psychopathy 9-24
- Examiner’s Conclusion Regarding Common Statutory Elements 9-26
 - Previous History of Harmful Sexual Conduct/Habitual
 - Sexual Misconduct 9-26
 - The Presence of Mental Abnormality or Disorder 9-27
 - The Nature of Control of Sexual Impulses: Personality Traits
 - Related to Ability to Control Sexual Impulses 9-28
 - Relative Risk of Future Dangerousness 9-30
 - General Issues 9-30
 - Opinion and Testimony on Recidivism 9-30
 - Accuracy of Prediction 9-31
 - Recidivism Rates for General Criminal, Violent, and
 - Sexual Offenses 9-32
 - Statistical Basis for Prediction 9-32
 - Rate for General Criminal Population 9-33
 - Rate for Sexual Offenders 9-34
 - Underestimation of Base Rates 9-35
 - Risk Factors and Rating Scales for Violent and Sexual
 - Recidivism 9-35
 - Clinical Assessment 9-36
 - Hare Psychopathy Checklist 9-36
 - Violence Risk Appraisal Guide 9-36
 - Specific Risk Factors 9-37
 - Sexual Violence Rating Scale 9-38
 - Rapid Risk Assessment 9-39
 - Treatment Alternatives: Least Restrictive Alternative Appropriate
 - for Treatment Needs 9-39
 - Milieu Therapy 9-40
 - Cognitive-Behavioral Therapy 9-40
 - Effect of Level of Training on Treatment Outcome 9-42
 - Amenability of Offender to Treatment 9-42

Requirements for Successful Outcome	9-42
Conclusion	9-43

PART 4: TREATMENT PROGRAMS FOR CIVILLY COMMITTED SEXUAL OFFENDERS

Chapter 10: The Minnesota Sex Offender Program

Historical Overview	10-2
Program Overview	10-2
Stages of the Program	10-3
Facility Description	10-3
Building Design	10-3
Security Systems	10-4
Building and Staffing Costs	10-4
Staff—Supervision and Requirements	10-5
Security Counselors	10-5
Coverage Patterns	10-6
Rehabilitation Staff	10-6
Education Staff	10-6
Nursing Staff	10-6
Office and Building Staff	10-6
Resident Population	10-7
Program Structure	10-7
Evaluation Stage—Comprehensive Assessment	10-7
Active Inpatient Treatment Stage	10-8
Core Treatment Groups and Modules	10-8
Dramatherapy	10-9
Assessment of Resident Progress	10-9
Phallometric/Polygraph Evaluation	10-10
Treatment Probation	10-10
Family Therapy	10-11
Resident Education	10-11
Leisure/Recreational Programming	10-11
Vocational and Work Programs	10-11
Transition Stage	10-11
Resident Rights	10-12
Safety in the Program	10-13
Restrictions Regarding Media Entertainment	10-13
Staff Training	10-13
Staff Supervision	10-14

Impact/Objectivity Issues 10-14
 Summary 10-14
 MSOP Goals and Expectations for Phases 10-14

Chapter 11: The Sexual Predator Treatment Program of Kansas

Introduction 11-2
 The History Behind the Act 11-2
 Legal Challenges—Kansas v. Hendricks 11-3
 Continuing Legal Debate 11-4
 National Reactions to the Kansas Law 11-4
 Limitations of the SPTP as a Prototype 11-5
 The Initial Program 11-5
 The Litigious Atmosphere 11-6
 Staff Problems 11-7
 The Current Program 11-8
 State-of-the-Art Treatment Methods 11-8
 Program Goals and Objectives 11-9
 Five-Phase Program 11-10
 Entry Phase 11-11
 Core Phase 11-11
 Advanced Phase 11-11
 Honor Phase 11-11
 Transition Phase 11-12
 Incentive System 11-12
 Therapeutic Community and Treatment Team 11-12
 Staffing Patterns and Needs 11-13
 Program Costs 11-14
 Resident Government 11-14
 Innovative Program Elements 11-15
 Use of Existential Theoretical Base 11-15
 Integration of Volition Theory 11-16
 Touch Therapy 11-16
 Pros and Cons of Housing in Correctional Facilities 11-16
 Future Directions 11-20
 1998 Legislative Activity 11-22
 Three-Phase Release Process 11-22
 Funds for Expansion 11-22
 Needed Legislation 11-23
 Removal of Violent Individuals From Program 11-23
 Clearer Release Criteria 11-23

Statewide Coordination of Sex Offender Treatment11-24
 Conclusion 11-24

Chapter 12: Guidelines for the Development of New Programs

Introduction 12-1
 Goals for Completion 12-2
 State-of-the-Art Treatment 12-3
 Individualized Treatment Planning 12-3
 Complete Background Information 12-4
 Gender Balance of Staff 12-4
 Staff Training 12-4
 Supervision 12-5
 Grievances 12-5
 Transition to Community and Discharge Follow-Up 12-5
 Other Issues 12-6
 Summary 12-6

Appendices

Appendix 1, Kansas v. Hendricks A-1
 Appendix 2, Five State Sexual Predator Statutes Compared A-33
 Appendix 3, The Minnesota Sex Offender Screening Tool (MnSOST) A-55
 Appendix 4, Sample Assessment Report A-65
 Appendix 5, The Minnesota Sex Offender Program Topic-Specific
 Modules A-103
 Appendix 6, Bibliography A-109

Table of Acronyms T-1
 Table of Cases and Statutes T-3

Index I-1